

BLITZ CHAMPZ MATH LEAGUE

UNLEASHING THE POWER OF MATH THROUGH PLAY!

OVERVIEW

The Blitz Champz Math League, founded by Adrienne Smith—professional football player, entrepreneur, and inventor of the award-winning Blitz Champz football card game—is a four-week program designed to make math engaging and enjoyable for students in grades 5–8. The program leverages the NFL Blitz Champz card game to reinforce math skills, critical thinking, and strategic decision-making while fostering a positive learning environment.

OBJECTIVES

- Fun in Learning – Transform math into an enjoyable, interactive experience.
- Inclusivity – Ensure all students can actively participate and succeed.
- Critical Thinking – Enhance problem-solving skills through gameplay.
- Community Building – Promote teamwork and friendly competition.

HOW IT WORKS

- Game Integration
 - Adrienne Smith conducts a kickoff workshop, via Zoom, introducing her career journey and teaching students to play Blitz Champz.
 - Classes receive 5 NFL Blitz Champz card games of their choice.
 - Teachers use the Blitz Champz web portal to register students, administer math pre-tests, track game results, and run post-tests.
- League Competition
 - Online leaderboards display top-performing students and classes to encourage achievement.
- Prizes & Recognition
 - Weekly awards are given to top students.
 - End-of-league prizes include autographed Blitz Champz games for top students.
- Parent Involvement
 - Parents can access the web portal to monitor their child's progress and leaderboard rankings.

BENEFITS

- Self-Confidence – Boosts students' math skills and self-esteem.
- Math Positivity – Creates a social and enjoyable learning atmosphere.
- Achievement – Recognizes accomplishments through rewards.
- Character Building – Encourages strategic thinking, decision-making, and healthy competition.
